USTAD GHULAM MUSTAFA
KHAN
FELLOWSHIP FOR MUSIC

USTAD GHULAM MUSTAFA KHAN

(3 MARCH 1931 – 17 JANUARY 2021)

Ustad Ghulam Mustafa Khan (3 March, 1931 – 17 January, 2021) was one of the most celebrated artists of Hindustani classical music. He was born and raised in the Badayun district of Uttar Pradesh, belonging to the Rampur-Sahaswan Gharana. His father, Ustad Waris Hussain Khan was the son of famous musician Ustad Murred Baksh, while his mother, Sabri Begum, was the daughter of Ustad Inayat Husain Khan, credited as the founder of the Rampur-Sahaswan Gharana of music. With his exceptional singing abilities and deep understanding of every nuance, Ustad Ji's presence in the Indian classical music made the cultural world richer, known as the grandeur and torchbearer of the Hindustani classical music. He was awarded the Padma Shri in 1991, followed by Padma Bhushan in 2006 and Padma Vibhushan in 2018, he was Vibhushan in 2018, he was also presented with the Sangeet Natak Akademi Award, the highest Indian recognition given to practicing artistes. Ustad Ji brought highest glories to his motherland with awe-inspiring musical performances around the world. His versatility and openness to all forms of music, a rarity in classical maestros of his time established him as one of the most successful musicians of Bollywood and Guru to eminent musicians like Asha Bhosle, Manna Dey, Ut Rashid Khan (also his nephew), Waheeda Rehman, Geeta Dutt, Hariharan, Sonu Nigam, Alisha Chinoy and Shilpa Rao. Besides, he was also invited to sing for Marathi and Gujaarati films and composed music for more than 70 documentaries of the Films Division. Interestingly, he also played the role of Baiju Bawra in the German documentary "Rainmaker".

Ustad Ghulam Mustafa Khan Fellowship

- (h) Entire output that is based on the work done by the Fellow during his/her tenure would be used in the public domain only after giving due credit/acknowledgement to the Council where relevant. The Council would also be entitled to use the relevant output in the Council's own publications or activities, after giving due credit/acknowledgement to the Fellow.

- (i) Since the Fellow would be associated with an institution, he/she would be required to interact extensively with the faculty/staff and other colleagues, subject to mutual agreement on the modalities thereof, which may include being requested to give lectures, take part in panel discussions, hold workshops etc.
- (j) Fellow should follow the rules, regulations and by-laws of the institute to which he/she is affiliated.

- (k) The Council would arrange a gratis visa for the Fellow through the concerned Indian Mission/Post.
- (l) The dates for arrival and departure of the Fellow should be indicated at least two months in advance to the Indian Mission in the respective country to ensure that suitable travel bookings can be made. However, if the dates for final departure from India cannot be finalised before arrival, the same may be finalised and intimated to the Council within 60 days of the Fellow's arrival in India.

Indian Council For Cultural Relations

Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, the first Education Minister of Independent India, founded the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) on 9th April 1950.

The objectives of the Council are to participate in the formulation and implementation of policies and programmes relating to India's external cultural relations; to foster and strengthen cultural relations and mutual understanding between India and other countries; to promote cultural exchanges with other countries and people; to establish and develop relations with national and international organizations in the field of culture.

ICCR is about a communion of cultures, a creative dialogue with other nations. To facilitate this interaction with world cultures, the Council strives to articulate and demonstrate the diversity and richness of the cultures of India, both in and with other countries of the world.

The Council prides itself on being a pre-eminent institution engaged in cultural diplomacy and the sponsor of intellectual exchanges between India and partner countries. ICCR's activities are aimed at reaching out to the hearts and minds of the people through a dissemination of its heritage, values and philosophy to create an endearing and everlasting image and promote India's soft power overseas.
